

Hadenfeldt's named Cairo CornStalk Festival Parade Grand Marshalls

The Cairo CornStalk Festival committee has named Dick & Jan Hadenfeldt longtime Cairo area residents to be the Grand Marshalls for this year's parade which has a theme of "Sea of Red."

Dick & Jan were married May 16, 1964 and live on their farm north of Cairo. Dick is a farmer and civil engineer. He was street superintendent for many years for Cairo and other area communities helping with many projects including designing baseball fields in the area and working with the communities on many engineering projects. Jan is a registered nurse and worked for many years for Dr. Fred Herb then later at Family Practice in Cairo. When she retired from nursing she worked for the Nebraska Bowling Association and the Centura Hills golf course.

Dick & Jan are very involved in their church, Christ Lutheran Church, including being in the choir for many years. They are also members of the Interfaith Singers in Grand Island. They are avid bowlers and very active members at Centura Hills Golf course where they enjoy golfing. Dick has been a member of the Cairo Rural Fire board for many years. He is a director at Pathway Bank. Also been a member of the Lower Loup NRD for over thirty years and appointed to the Nebraska Natural Resource commission for over thirteen years. He was a baseball and softball coach for many years.

The couple has two children Andrew and wife Nancy of Lincoln and Brenda and husband Michael Greer of Lafayette Colorado.

Dick & Jan like living in the Cairo community because it is a helping, caring community with many wonderful caring people. Dick also graduated from Cairo High School. It is a great place to raise kids.

We would like to thank the Hadenfeldt's for all their service and contribution to the Cairo community. Cairo is lucky to have them in our community. Come see them lead the CornStalk Festival parade on Saturday June 9 at 10 am on Main Street in Cairo along with all the other festivities.
